THAT "EARNST MAN."
It can hardly be denied that Judge Doolittle is an ingenious man. In a political way he is very inventive, but he does not happen to be successful. He can straddle more political questions, and seem more earnest about it, than any other man in Wisconsin. Mr. C. H. Parker is taking lessons from the ex-Senator in straddling, and Parker being a very apt scholar, has made such progress that he surprises his master. Judge Doolittle is now interesting himself in the Congressional question of the First District; and to do what little he could to help Mr. Parker along in his very unpleasant race, he thought of the reputation he once enjoyed as a letter-writer when he had that singular correspondence with one Conaty, about some cotton. On this point we introduce the State Journal which can enlighten the public on the Doolittle-Conaty speculation. "The country had a notable example of the Judge's capacity or a letter-writer a few years ago, when his correspondence with one M. J. Conaty, a cotton agent, in regard to dividing the profits of cotton bought inside the enemy's lines during the war, was published. Mr. Doolittle's letters to the cotton agent, and the cotton agent's highly complimentary letters to Mr. Doolittle, were both found in the hand-writing of the ex-Senator. In fact, when the ex-Senator has occasion to address a friend on any important and delicate subject, it seems that he draws up an answer and forwards it at the same time, for the friend to copy, sign and return. By this ingenious method, the ex-Senator assures in advance a satisfactory response. Thus, by drawing up himself Mr. Conaty's reply, he was able to secure from the latter a declaration assuring him (Doolittle) that he (Conaty) was induced to offer a part of the wealth he expected to gain, to Doolittle, on account of the disinterested admiration he felt for Doolittle's upright and faithful conduct in public life."
The Judge found Parker trying to run for Congress on a platform which was not altogether satisfactory to a few Democrats, and in order to make it seem that he was on a harder platform, the Judge resorted to his old system of letter-writing. So he wrote Parker a letter on finance, asking him certain questions—eight in number; and of course Parker not being able to answer them, as he is lacking in financial knowledge, and not knowing how to step from a soft money platform on to one of different material without a political tumble, Doolittle used the Conaty process to help him over. Those who know Doolittle's shrewdness, and know how easy it is for him to appear to be in earnest, can readily understand how he managed the affair for Parker. When he propounded the eight questions, he also prepared the eight answers, and now the whole thing is going before the people as the Doolittle-Parker correspondence. The game may be regarded as an ingenious one, but it will not prove a successful one.

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY AND LABORINGMEN.
Ever since the Republican party has been organized, it has been the champion of the workingman's interest. Its first attempt to better the condition of those who wanted farms and could not buy them, was to pass the Homestead Act by which every man who so desired, could enter free of cost, one hundred and sixty acres of unappropriated public lands, by settling upon it. The same party tried time after time, to pass the bill, but it met the determined opposition of the Democrat party. That party worked in the interest of the slave power and of speculators, while the Republican party represented the interests of the free labor of the whole country. After several hard struggles, the Republicans never flinching from the responsibility, the bill became a law, not however, until it was signed by Abraham Lincoln, for James Buchanan, the last Democratic President, vetoed it, after it was once passed by a Republican Congress. And when the Republicans wanted to extend the provisions of the act to certain States in which there were unappropriated lands, the Democrats opposed the measure. Every step the party took to better the condition of the laboring classes, it met the opposition of the Democrats. The reason why there are so many thousands to-day employed in the mills and factories in the United States, is because the Republican party believe in fostering and protecting American interests, and works faithfully to that end. It has prevented the workingmen of this country from coming in contact with the half-paid labor of Europe, and that is one reason why the American laborer is better off than the laborer abroad.

The financial policy of the Republican party is that which seeks to elevate the condition of the laborer, by restoring public confidence and making the currency of the country unchangeable in value, so that the workingman will be paid in the money he earns, and not one which will depreciate in value. The first one to be injured by a currency which depreciates, is the laboring man. The burden falls the heaviest upon him, while he is the least able to bear the loss. The aim of the Republican party is to make the currency sufficient in volume for all the demands of business, and make it so good that any dollar of it will demand the respect and confidence which gold does. The Republicans are working for the consummation of this very desirable object—the other parties are not.

The City Times publishes the statement that our old friend, General Blith, now of the Darlington Republican, breaks ranks with the Republicans, and goes over to the Greenbackers. This charge is very unjust to the General. He does not break ranks, but heartily supports Hazleton, for Congress, on a financial platform which embodies the Republican idea of sound money; and he also raises to the mast head, the name of C. G. Williams, who stands on the very admirable address issued by the Republican Central Committee. The General does say that "in the contest as to whether the greenback or the National bank note shall become the only paper currency of the country, he is in favor of the greenback." So we might say is every Republican for the greenback, in that case. But the present contest is not whether the greenback or the National bank note shall be the only paper currency. One of the issues is, "shall we have an absolutely safe banking system the notes of which shall be redeemable in greenbacks worth as much as gold, and thus make impossible the existence of the dangerous and rag money State banks which cursed the country before the war? We are for having a good National banking system for the protection of the people, the notes of which shall never default."

The Inter-Ocean, in which the Greenbackers seem to take a great deal of stock this fall, says, "Parker, Greenback candidate for Congress in the First Wisconsin District, repudiates the National plan for paying off the bonds in greenbacks, but he is in favor of using greenbacks to buy up the new bonds, which are payable, principal and interest, in coin. But, by Saint Paul, that's the way the old bonds were purchased; and that is what all the row is about, the government holding that they are payable in coin though purchased in greenbacks, while the Pomeroys fellows declare this to be a lecherous bondholder's trick. Yet here comes Parker and proposes the same game for the new bonds." Even Parker's pet paper begins to show up his inconsistency and demagogism by changing print since the first of August.

The Demo-Doo-Green-cratt-little-back-i platform on which Parker is running for Congress, is in favor of issuing 300 or 400 millions of notes or certificates which shall never be redeemed, and the Chicago Times strikes the nail squarely on the head in commenting on the Doolittle-Parker letter, by saying that the same power which may decree the issue of $322,000,000 of certificates this year, may double or treble the amount whenever a fresh soil-money insanity breaks out.

The Madison Democrat says that Judge Dyer, of the United States court, has rendered a decision in the case of the United States against the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company, an action brought several years since, to recover $30,579.47 alleged to be due on elevator earnings. The court held that the company was liable, and entered a judgment in accordance with the demand of the complaint.

Parker says in his third platform drawn up by Doolittle that he is not in favor of returning to the old State Bank system. Thus supposing the National banks were abolished, where would the 769 millions of deposits go to? In the hands of brokers?

The Republicans of Green county have made their nominations for the Assembly—Mr. Mitchell, of the South District, has been renominated, and in the North District, Mr. F. R. Melvin, a strong and a capable man, has been put in nomination.

Butler's fate in Massachusetts is sealed. The nomination of J. G. Abbott, for Governor, makes the election of Talbot sure. Butler's pile was not large enough to buy up the Faneuil Hall Democracy.

Congressman Williams makes his first campaign speech at Clinton this evening. It will be confined principally to the financial issues.

Chairman Rublee, of the State Central Committee, will move his headquarters to Milwaukee next Monday. He don't like the influences at Madison.

The political firm of Doolittle-Stewart-Parker will go into bankruptcy on the fifth of November.

About the first of October we may expect to see Parker's fourth platform.

THE KICKERS.

The Anti Butler Democrats Nominate Abbott for Governor.

BOSTON, Sept. 25.—The regular (anti-Butler) Democratic State Convention in Faneuil Hall, to-day, made a good showing, reporting more than 1,200 delegates from upwards of 300 towns and cities—a number far ahead of what Butler's arithmetical allowed. The Hon. Josiah G. Abbott was nominated for Governor by acclamation, and the remainder of the State ticket adopted on the report of the committee chosen for the purpose.

General James S. Whitney presided, and in his speech, which was very long, he reviewed the political course of General Butler, and held him up to the contempt of the Convention. The gathering was made up of the best elements of the Democratic party—sober, orderly, and having regard for the dignity of the party.

WON'T DO IT.

Unavailing Efforts to Secure the Withdrawal of H. A. Tenney, as the Greenback Candidate for Congress in the Second District.

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 25.—The rumor which appeared in the Tribune some days ago to the effect that there was a prospect of the withdrawal of Mr. Tenney, the Greenback candidate for Congress in this district, in which Mr. Davis, Democratic candidate, would be likely to receive the united support of the Democrats and Greenbackers, has no foundation in fact. The Greenbackers here are firmly bent on the candidacy of Tenney, and say that in no case will he have been withdrawn. Mr. Davis, the Democratic nominee, has not yet made known his acceptance of the position, and it is thought that his failure to publish his acceptance is due to the fact that a strong effort is being made to induce Tenney to withdraw; but I am positively informed by prominent Greenbackers that they will in no case consent to such a course.

THE INDIANS.

Measures to Force the Renegade Cheyennes Back to their Reservation.

St. Louis, Sept. 25.—The Globe-Democrat's Leavenworth special says two companies of the Twenty-third infantry left here to-day for Monmouth Station, Kansas Pacific Railway, the point where the refugee Cheyenne Indians are expected to cross if they get that far north. Col. Dodge, of the Twenty-third, is there now with a detachment of Ft. Hayes and two companies of sixteenth infantry, and when the troops which left here to-day reach him, he will probably have force enough to control the Indians and to force them back to their reservations.

CRIME.

A Missing Bank Clerk at Fond du Lac Attempted Robbery at Elkhorn.

FOND DU LAC, Wis., Sept. 25.—Robert H. Whorton, cashier of the German Savings bank of C. L. Eeking, left town suddenly last night after telling his relatives that he had got into trouble which compelled him to leave. This morning upon opening the bank the vault was found properly closed and locked, but about $6,000 in currency which had been in the vault the previous night was missing. Whorton was the only person except Eeking who knew the combination of the vault's lock. The police at different points have been notified to arrest Whorton.

ELKHORN, Wis., Sept. 25.—John Peck, a fireman on the Western Union railroad, while in the privacy of the Central house to-day, was approached by a person named George Lewis and asked if he had any money. Being answered in the negative, Peck was feloniously assaulted, and during the scuffle Lewis fired a shot from a revolver, taking effect in the wall of the house. Lewis was arrested and committed in default of $300 bail.

The campaign in Rock county on the part of the Republicans is opening with a good deal of earnestness. Speeches will be made to-night in many portions of the county by several of our best speakers. The Republican party of Rock county stands firmly for a paper dollar which won't depreciate.

Environs with Danger.

The dweller or temporary sojourner in a malarious region of country is envolved with danger. Besides inhaling at every breath an atmosphere saturated with an infectious poison, he also drinks water which is in most instances likewise impregnated with the fever and ague breeding miasmata. If a bilious subject, deficient in stamina, or irregular in habit of body or digestion, his peril is much increased, as these abnormal conditions are extremely favorable to the contraction of malarial disease. But this danger may be safely encountered with the assistance of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which completely nullifies the atmospheric virus, and neutralizes the constituents of miasma-tainted water. This benign antidote to disease eradicates and prevents fevers of an intermittent and bilious remittent type, besides effecting a thorough and permanent reform of those enfeebled or irregular conditions of the system which invite not only malaria, but other diseases equally to be dreaded.

An Undeniable Truth.
You deserve to suffer, and if you lead a miserable, unsatisfactory life in this beautiful world, it is entirely your own fault and there is only one excuse for you,—your unreasonable prejudice and skepticism, which has killed thousands. Personal knowledge and common sense reasoning, will soon show you that Green's August Flower will cure you of Liver Complaint, or Dyspepsia, with all its miserable effects, such as sick headache, palpitation of the heart, sour stomach, habitual costiveness, dizziness of the head, nervous prostration, low spirits, &c. Its sales reach every town on the Western Continent, and not a Druggist but will tell you of its wonderful cures. You can buy a Sample Bottle for 10 cents. Three doses will relieve you. decided-we-won

Fever and Ague Cured for 50 Cents.
Dr. Swaney's Fever and Ague Pills, (without calomel or opium), are a quick and sure cure in every case for ague and fever, intermittent and remittent fever, and all diseases having their origin from malaria. They are a great tonic and preventive as well as cure of all complaints peculiar to malarious, marshy and miasmatic districts. They act on the liver, and brace up the system to a vigorous healthy condition. Notwithstanding these pills are sold for one-half the price that other ague cures are sold for, yet we will warrant them as effectual in all cases as any pills or mixture, let the price or compound be what they may. They reach every town on the Western Continent, and not a Druggist but will tell you of its wonderful cures. You can buy a Sample Bottle for 10 cents. Three doses will relieve you. decided-we-won

BRIEFLETS.

Another convention.
The fall makes the mercury fall.
The Vets will be at it again to-night.
No work for the fire lads, and their ladders.
The glove trade won't begin to pick up much till the pantaloons pockets give out.
Some boys have been disturbing the teachers and scholars of the Central building, and Marshall Keating is looking after them.
Rev. A. J. Mead, of Fond du Lac, passed through the city last evening enroute for Monroe, to attend the Methodist gathering there.
Prof. Van Cleave is composing an ode for the laying of the corner stone of a prominent school building in Cincinnati at an early date.
Mrs. J. L. Kimball and her daughter, Miss Emily A. Kimball, have returned from Chicago, where they have resided for a year or more past.
Young McCormick who was stabbed Tuesday night is somewhat better this morning, and being of a rugged constitution will doubtless soon recover.
Sidewalk notices are being liberally distributed among property owners. Some of the walks need patching up badly, and they should be seen to before snow flies.
Richard Skelly, of Shopiere was let off with five days in jail, on being brought up before Justice Prichard, Richard promising to go to shoemaking and sober up as soon as released.
George D. Chittenden started for Chicago to-day to continue his course at the Rush Medical College. He has been improving his summer by staying with his father, Dr. G. W. Chittenden.
Wat Wright, who has been here before, was to-day lodged in jail, being sent up for seventy-five days by Justice Rogers, of Beloit, on account of too much drunk. He will have plenty of time to write up his diary, as twenty-five of these days are to be spent in solitary confinement.
Mrs. Lucia T. Chase, wife of Hon. Edwin T. Chase, of Germantown, Philadelphia, and niece of W. S. Chase, of this city, died at her residence Saturday, Sept. 21st. Deceased was a daughter of the late Hon. Joshua A. Chase, of Massachusetts. Edwin T. Chase is one of Philadelphia's most prominent lawyers.
Last Sunday night some thirty fellows tried to get Marshall to open up his saloon and give them a quaff. They were so indignant at being refused admittance that they kicked the glass out of a rear door. John McCue, of the town of Rock, was yesterday afternoon arrested on the charge of being one of the party. The case was continued until Monday.
Some villains last Tuesday night placed some coupling pins on the railroad track in Beloit, with the evident intention of detaching a train. Fortunately the obstructions were discovered and removed just before a train came along. Shortly afterwards a second attempt was discovered of the same nature, but this also was frustrated. No clue has been obtained to the perpetrators.
Yesterday afternoon a woman entered the store presided over by the highest officer of the Temple of Honor in this State, and mysteriously beckoned him to one side, when she pulled out from under her shawl a sin-stricken pint bottle, which she told him in whispered tones she wanted filled with his very best old rye. Mutual questionings and explanations showed the old lady that she was so befuddled that she had made a mistake in the place.
Al. Kemmitt, the driver of the mail wagon, to and from the depot, has gone to Chicago for a week's lay-off, and during the time the contractor is attending to the business, though not having quite as practical a knowledge of the time table as "Al." Yesterday he was seen running his horse for the depot at as fearful a gait as the steed was capable of, and in strange inconsistency with his oft repeated instructions to his driver not to go fast. The men at the Corn Exchange ran out and cried "Whoa Emma," and the news-gatherers hurried to learn the particulars of the supposed runaway. The mail wagon reached the depot in time, however, the contractor had the privilege of having his legs over the edge of the platform for about fifteen minutes, before even a "bus driver" appeared to chat away the monotony of waiting for the train.

THE WEATHER.

The thermometer at 7 o'clock this morning stood at 47 degrees above and at 2 o'clock this afternoon at 55 degrees above. Clear. One year ago to-day at corresponding hours the thermometer stood at 61 and 81 degrees above.

They are writing up policies at the very best rates, and in as safe companies as there are in the world.

LOOK OUT FOR GRAIN THIEVES.

On Sunday evening, Sept. 23d, seven bags of wheat and three bags of grass seed were stolen from the granary of C. L. Clarke, near Otter Creek. A young man named Lyon noticed a bag with Clarke's name on it in the wagon of a stranger who had put out at the Milton House. Lyon sent word to Clarke, who soon put in an appearance. A warrant was issued and the fellow interviewed. As might be expected, he denied the theft, but having the bag, with Clarke's name on it, in his possession, he finally settled the matter and paid some thirty dollars. The same individual went north on the same Sunday and camped out near Otter Creek. He left Milton yesterday afternoon, going southeast. He travels with a span of rather small horses and democrat wagon.

THIRD DISTRICT.

Meeting of the Republican Assembly Convention To-Day.

A Spirited Contest for the Nomination of Assemblyman.

William Gardner, of the Town of Bradford, Nominated on the Thirteenth Ballot.

The Republican convention of the Third Assembly District met at the Court House in this city this afternoon for the purpose of nominating a candidate for the Assembly. The convention was called to order by Mr. G. E. Newman, of Porter.

On motion, S. C. Carr of Milton, was chosen chairman and D. F. Sayre, of Porter, Secretary.

The following were selected as a Committee on Credentials: W. A. Mahon, of Clinton, J. P. Towne, of Fulton, J. M. Mansur, of Harmony.

Some discussion arose as to the basis of representation. Some of the towns had sent more delegates than were allowed for in the call, and they claimed seats on the ground that the basis established by the district convention one year ago, allowing five delegates from each town was the correct one for forming the Convention.

Others claimed that the Convention should form in accordance with the call, and in accordance with the basis of representation adopted by the county convention, there being one delegate for each five hundred of population. The Committee on Credentials reported the names of twenty-six delegates only, taking the first names on those lists exceeding the required number, and leaving the others out. The report was put to a vote, on a motion to adopt it, and was lost on a tie vote.

It was finally decided that the towns be represented in this convention on the basis of one for every four hundred inhabitants, and one for every fraction over two hundred, which gave the following number of delegates for the several towns: Fulton, Milton and Clinton, 5 each; Harmony, Johnston, Lima, Porter, Turtle, 3 each; LaPrairie and Bradford, 2 each, making a total of 34 delegates.

The following delegates were present, and given votes as above; it being decided that where there was a deficiency those present should cast the full vote:

Milton—S. C. Carr, W. W. Clarke, J. E. Coakley, P. M. Green.

Bradford—W. Boyington, G. Bart.

Harmony—J. Menzies, J. M. Mansur, I. H. Boyd.

LaPrairie—B. H. Smith, H. Tarrant.

Lima—O. A. Wheeler, D. Godfrey, R. H. Stetson.

Clinton—J. Hammond, N. O. Newhouse, W. A. Mayhew, Earl Preble.

Turtle—S. H. Szymaker, C. M. Gregory.

Porter—B. S. Hoxie, D. F. Sayre, G. E. Newman.

Johnston—F. B. Cook, A. A. Keith, T. H. Austin.

An informal ballot was taken, the following being named: R. T. Powell, of Fulton; W. H. Starks, of LaPrairie; George H. Crosby, of Turtle; William Gardner, of Bradford, and B. S. Hoxie, of Cooksville.

RISKY RAILROADING.

One Train Succeeds in Running through Another—A Smash-up of Freight Cars.

The morning train to-day from the north, on the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, was over two hours late, and then rolled up to the depot with only the passenger coaches, the freight cars being left at Watertown Junction, where an accident occurred this morning.

It appears that as the Northwestern train pulled up at the depot, an eastward bound freight train on the Milwaukee & St. Paul road came thundering along, the engine striking the Northwestern train in about the middle, knocking two of the freight cars off the track, and out of the way and sadly damaging others.

The Milwaukee engine and about six freight cars passed through the gap thus made, and were somewhat banged up, especially the engine. It was some time before the wreck could be cleared sufficiently to allow the trains to proceed. Fortunately no one was hurt.

The engineer of the Milwaukee & St. Paul train on seeing that a collision was inevitable jumped off, but the fireman remained and went through the wreck uninjured. A wrecking car was sent up from here this morning, and soon all will be in perfect running order. As in most railroad accidents there is much dispute as to who is to blame. The approach at Watertown Junction is rather a dangerous one on the best, there being several buildings which rather obstruct the view, and render it necessary to use great caution at all times.

HYMENEAL HAPPINESS.

MCGUIRE-CHURCH.

There was an enjoyable social gathering, including the family and a few intimate friends, at the residence of James Church, Esq., last evening, on the occasion of the marriage of his daughter Hattie, with Mr. P. A. McGuire, of Lawler, Iowa. Congratulations and good wishes were hearty, and the hospitalities of the host and hostess were unostentatious and generous.

The wedding pair were the recipients of some choice gifts from members and friends of the family. Mr. and Mrs. McGuire take their departure this evening for Iowa. The worthy bride is well fitted to make the home at Lawler a pleasant and attractive one. The good wishes of Janesville friends go with them.

AMONG THE CHOCTAWS.

A Vivid Narration of Sundry Scenes and Incidents.

We are permitted to publish the following portions of a letter received by Mrs. C. B. Conrad, of this city, from her mother, Mrs. C. Swift, the Corresponding Secretary of the Women's Baptist Home Mission Society. Mrs. Swift is well known in this city, and the letter will prove therefore doubly interesting to our readers:

ATOCA CHOCTAW NATION, Aug. 14, 1878.

—I left Chicago Tuesday night, August 6th, had a very comfortable trip, and, as I wrote you, reached here Thursday noon.

Three teams had started for the Association, forty miles away, in the morning. One waited for me, and after two we started, (Mrs. Bond, a half-breed, Dr. Cook, white, and I) with an old stage driver in a strong wagon. On the open prairie, the road was good, but in the timber it was often very bad with steep banks, rocky, and badly washed. The streams were low, for which we were thankful. We stopped an hour or more for supper, near a beautiful spring, and then moved steadily on until after 2 o'clock in the morning.

The moon set just as we reached the gate of the pastor's house at Stone-wall, Chickasaw Nation. They were so full that not only were the beds full, but the floors in the house and on the porch, and I believe some slept on the grass. I stopped with a family of half-breeds, the lady a cousin of Mrs. Bond, and I had a nice home. The white people were cared for in houses, but the colored people and full-bloods were in camps, of which there were six or eight in the roads near by. The Association was made up of whites, negroes, half-breeds and full-bloods. Of the full-bloods there were Choctaws, Chickasaws and Seminoles. Colored people sat by themselves, but whites and Indians sat together. The Indians all came on ponies, some of them 70 or 75 miles. A few were dressed well, but most of them looked pretty rough. Some were dressed very gay, and a few had knives and pistols in a sheath attached to their belts. None of the Christian Indians carried anything of that kind. I can hardly tell you how it impressed me to see the delegates coming in from all directions, men and women on their ponies, and was told that they had been two days getting there. The meeting was carried on like our Associations, but as many things had to be very particularly explained, and as nearly every thing had to be interpreted it took longer to do the business, but it was mostly very harmonious. There was preaching in English, Choctaw and Seminole. I presented my work and it seemed to be gladly accepted, particularly by the full bloods, but there were some men there from Arkansas and Texas, to enlist the people in schools in those States, and they began a bitter opposition, the Arkansas man leading, and so worked on some half-breeds that one of them brought up the subject and made an ugly speech against it. They gave me an opportunity of defence and I very coolly and quietly answered the objections, that regaled their auditors. The full bloods plied my cause like heroes, welcoming the work, and the tables were so fully turned that the half-breed who had denounced it, came and asked my forgiveness.

Mrs. Bond who talks Choctaw said that the full-bloods as soon as they heard of the trouble, traced it to those white men, and were not moved one bit by it. Some of them told her to tell me not to be discouraged, that they would stand by me through thick and thin. As they are the ones for whom our work is intended, I am satisfied. I became exceedingly interested in some of the full-bloods. One young minister particularly stole my heart. He was very fine looking and when he talked his eyes sparkled, and his face lighted up as few faces ever do. His modest little wife clung to him so timidly I was charmed with them. Mr. Bond knows them well and asked me to notice them. She says he is very smart—is eloquent, uses beautiful language, and if he only could have been educated would be a great power. He works for his church all of the time and is very poor.

I took dinner one day in one of the full blood camps, and I have eaten many a dinner among whites that was less palatable. We had beef pot-pie, roast pork, warm biscuit without butter, cookies, and good coffee without milk.

The hand shaking when the Association closed interested me very much. An old negro commenced singing "Jesus my all to Heaven is gone," and they all began to move about shaking hands and saying the good byes. The old missionaries hung on each other's necks and wept like children. I never witnessed a more tender scene. My own tears fell like rain as one after another, whites, blacks and red men took me by the hand. I shall never forget it.

During the meeting we had a hard rain and all dreaded the trip home. The meeting closed Monday night, and yesterday morning three teams started for Atoka. The roads were so heavy the mules could not go out of a walk. About noon we reached the first large stream. The water was up so high the drivers said we had better eat our dinner and let it fall some. They made coffee and we had a good lunch. Some negroes came on ponies and went through, so most of us crossed on a log and the teams ventured in. It was pretty fearful but they came through safely. At the next large stream a tree had fallen across the entrance to the ford. The men chopped off a big limb, hitched the mules to it, and drew it out so that they could enter the ford from the side. The brave driver plunged in, and though it nearly buried the horses, they reached the opposite shore amid the cheers of the crowd. Our team, containing the women, went next, all right, and they cheered again, and then came a load of men. At 8 o'clock, we took our supper, making coffee in a negro cabin. At nine we started on, reaching Atoka about midnight.
